

What do we expect from our project?

We expect our project to be like any other communication app that has the potential to gather users in one room or page. We have seen many applications, some of them are used for educational purposes and some of them can be used for personal needs. For example, Blackboard is used for educational reasons meanwhile Zoom can be used for both educational and personal needs. From those examples we can find out that our project (application) should contain some tools to optimize the needs of each user.

Such as:

open microphone.

Close microphone.

Open camera.

Close camera.

Share screen.

Share link.

Leave room.

In conclusion, those are the most fundamental tools are needed in the project so it can fulfill any user needs. And those are what we do expect our project to include.
